Hackathon Open Data x Skills

October 24-25, 2024 at the GovTech Lab

Open Data x Skills Hackathon: two days of exploration, creativity and impact at GovTech Lab

The Open Data x Skills Hackathon organized by GovTech Lab in collaboration with the Information and Press Service (SIP) and the Employment Agency (ADEM) is the must-attend event for curious minds, creators and Open Data enthusiasts.

When? October 24-25, 2024
at the GovTech Lab.

Why participate?

- Multidisciplinary collaboration: Join a diverse community of talents: data scientists, developers, UX designers, project managers, business analysts and many more. Together, we'll explore data around employment provided by ADEM and Eurostat.

- Innovation at the service of employment: Use open data on skills in demand in Luxembourg! Create solutions to visualise trends or close the skills gap.

- Networking and opportunities: Meet experts, exchange ideas, and create lasting links with industry professionals.

Who can take part?

Anyone! Whether you're a passionate individual or a group of 4-6 people, we invite you to join this Hackathon. You can form your own team or join existing groups.

Don't hesitate to register and share this event with your network - places are limited, so don't delay!
